International project
and export finance

Financing the future

What we do is aimed at providing medium and long-term financing to work today on four major issues of the future.

»» Exports

Exports are key to ensuring growth, prosperity and employment.

»» Infrastructure

A growing need of the world's population for mobility and global flows of goods and services calls for high infrastructure investment.

»» Environment and climate

Environmental and climate protection and an efficient energy supply are among the main future challenges for our world.

»» Resources

Having access to affordable industrial commodities is an essential prerequisite for the viability of our economy.

We support internationalisation

KfW IPEX-Bank is a leading specialist financier in Germany and Europe for exports, investments and infrastructure. We are a wholly owned subsidiary of KfW Group. For over 60 years we have been instrumental in advancing the global competitiveness and internationalisation of German and European exporters. Our financings provide long-term support that secures economic strength and employment in Germany and Europe while ensuring that our globalised society is well placed for the future.

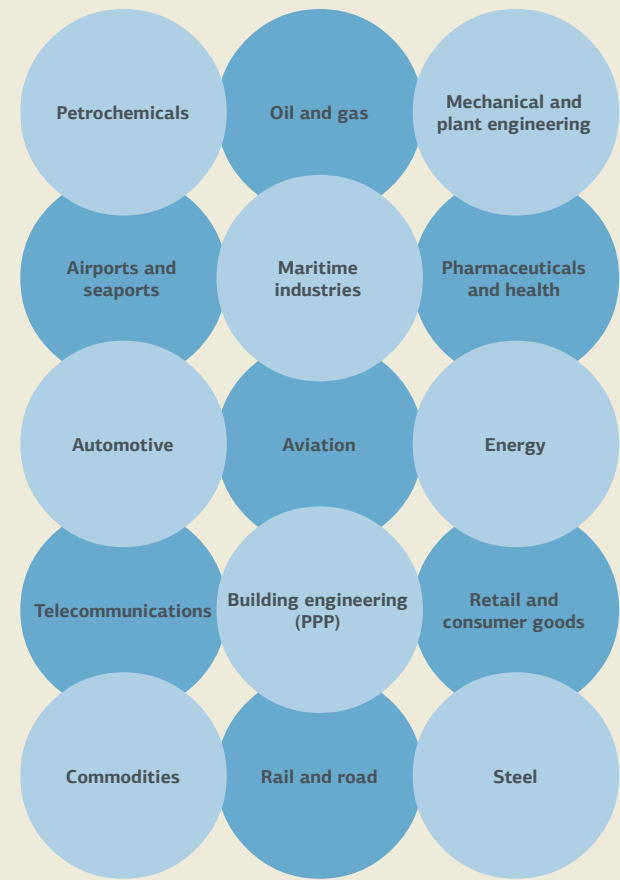

A committed and professional partner to count on KfW IPEX-Bank is a reliable finance partner for its clients as well as for other banks and institutions – also in complex projects in difficult markets. Apart from individual advice and unique solutions, our strength lies in our highly committed and professional staff. We nurture business relationships that have grown over the years and make our clients' projects our own.

Your specialist financier with sector expertise

As a specialist financier with proven structuring expertise, we advise and accompany our clients through all project stages and develop effective solutions for complex financing needs. We focus on the key sectors of the German and European export industry.

Market and industry know-how in key sectors

Our many years of market experience and sector know-how enable us to understand technology-based companies in the local export industry better than others.

From ECA-backed loans to tailored structured financing – we will find the optimal solution, especially for medium and long-term products.

Special financing products across all maturities

Optimal local support – worldwide

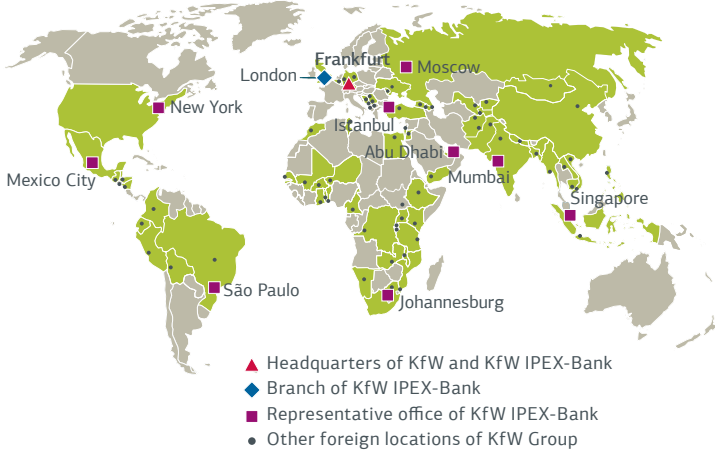

KfW IPEX-Bank is a reliable partner for its clients both in industrialised and in developing and emerging countries – key growth markets for exports and direct investment. KfW IPEX-Bank also specifically targets countries where access to financing is difficult.

We are present in the most important regions and foreign markets of German and European exporters. Within KfW Group we share knowledge and experience across a network of some 80 locations – for the benefit of our clients.

We bear responsibility for the environment and climate

As our business model is based on the legal mandate assigned to KfW, this gives us a special responsibility towards society. We ensure that all of our projects are carried out in a manner that is environmentally sound and socially acceptable. We conduct our business responsibly so as to safeguard the livelihoods and quality of life of future generations.
